Tell It Again! Flip Book Introduction

This Tell It Again! Flip Book contains images that accompany the Tell It Again! Read-Aloud Anthology for A New Nation: American Independence. The images are in sequential order. Each image is identified by its lesson number, read-aloud letter (A or B), and the number of the image within the particular read-aloud. For example, the first image in Read-Aloud 1A is numbered 1A-1. Once you have worked your way through the book to the last page, you will flip the entire book over to view the second half of the images.

Depending on your classroom configuration, you may need to have students sit closer to the flip book in order to see the images clearly.

IN CONGRESS, July 4, 1776.

The unanimous Declaration of the British united States of America.

When in the Course of human Events, it becomes necessary for one People to dissolve the political Bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the Family of Nations, the separate and equal Station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature’s God entitle them; a decent Respect to the Opinions of Mankind requires that they should declare the Causes which impel them to the Separation.

Among these, it axis difficult to escape or confusion. It has, therefore, been deemed proper, and we shall, from the Temper of the People, so far as a Respect to Truth, and a Proportionate Esteem to the Death of Nations, and our own, are concerned, be guided, and when the People are alarmed by an aggressor, to judge the cases of the People as they are created, the Rights of the People, and the interest of the People. Thus, in the words of the Constitution, we shall pursue the ends of Justice, and the good of the People.

We, therefore, the Representatives of the United States of America, in General Congress, Assembled, do, in the Name, and by the Authority of the same, solemnly publish and declare, that these United States are free and Independent States; that they are absolved from all Allegiance to the British Crown, and that all Political Connection between them and the State of Great Britain, is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that as free and independent States, they have full Power to bind Nations together into League of Friendship, for the purpose of a common Defence, and mutual Assistance against all the dangers of War. ForSWF, we, the People, do ordain and establish this Declaration of Independence.
without difficulty and without requiring any compensation.

Article 10.

The aforesaid ratifications of the present Treaty must be exchanged in good faith. The Act shall be exchanged between the contracting Parties in the Space of Six Months or sooner if possible to be completed from the day of the Signature of the present Treaty.

In Witness whereof we the undersigned: the Ministers Plenipotentiary have signed, sealed and in Virtue of our full Powers present to us here the present definitive Treaty, and caused the Seals of our Arms to be affixed thereto.

Done at Paris the third day of September in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and thirty-nine.

In CONGRESS, July 4, 1776.

The unanimous Declaration of the British colonies in North America.

When in the Course of human Events, it becomes necessary for one People to dissolve the political Bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the Powers of the Earth, the separate and equal Station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature’s God entitle them; a decent Respect to the Opinions of Mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the Separation.

We hold these Truths to be Self-evident, that all Men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness.——That to secure these Rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just Powers from the Consent of the Governed, that whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these Ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to extinguish it, and to institute new Government, laying its Foundation on such Principles, and organizing its Powers, in such Manner as they may think necessary for their Safety and Happiness.

We therefore, the Representatives of the United States of America, in General Congress, Assembled, do appeal to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our Intentions. — For the support of Truth, for the Advancement of Science and the general promotion of Commerce and Prosperity, we Assocate ourselves together for the Defence of Free Institutions and for that Purpose solemnly bind ourselves and each other in Union, in Earnest of our Hospiatlity, and in Right of our mutual Interests.

John Hancock

President.
